RE: Report on SDGS PEACE & CLIMATE TECHNO-RESILIART SUMMIT & FESTIVAL

Dear All,

We are pleased to enclose a brief report of the successful execution of the SDGs Peace, Health & Climate Techno-ResiliArt Summit & Festival held March 4-5 hosted graciously by University of Makati Center for Culture and the Arts organized by the Earthsavers Dreams National I.T.I. Center with all of our partners both local and international with the kind patronage of UNESCO, the Office of the Assistant Director-General for Exterior Relations with regard to Goodwill Ambassadors and Artist for Peace with Priority Africa concern, ADG Matoko and ITI DG Tobias Biancone.

First, we must thank everyone both those in government agencies who kindly responded in support of our common cause and the community of artists, communicators, educators, scientists that participated and even on the sidelines online cheering for this vision. We can say, "mission accomplished" with the grace of God plus the sacrifice and volunteer spirit of everyone because we were actually, without the necessary funds but jumped into this national mobilization that is so critical to banner our country as an inspirational exemplar in utilizing culture-based SDGs education to push for a vital culture time in the United Nations Conference on Climate so that artistic expression rooted in our traditional cultures can more readily visualize, concretize, scientific data about the climate crisis and the various pathways that must be undertaken collectively so that we can stop violence against Mankind and Mother Earth.

We are confident that a creative army of artist initiated from the Philippines linked to all countries can comprise the creative army to conscientize the urgent need for ceasefire and decarbonization to prevent the total destruction of our common Home, planet Earth and leave a safe, healthy, clean, peaceful, sustainable future for our children, our grandchildren up to 7th generation. As artists, we are creators, we are against destruction, we affirm life, we thank everyone as I am sure all who participated felt the energy and the sense of collaboration that we can expect, we cannot delay, we must act now to save tomorrow. Here is our encounter, we hope we can draw the necessary funding as well as the continuous spirit of unity and kinship to address the existential crisis of conflict, climate, covid and other forthcoming diseases, collapsing economy, we can really be in very desperate mindset but the event gives us hope.

There is positive action both on the legislative and executive and we even established connectivity now with the Justice arena as we have linked up with a fellow awardee for women who also works in promoting the dynamic application of the arts for healing trauma, recovery, conversion, strengthening of commitment to fulfill the dream of a dignified life for all, no one left behind. So, please continue to contact our secretariat: 09178711161/ 85246662 and our partners. As we forge forward from Baku to Belem, Brazil, we expect hopefully a virtual SDGs Arts Olympics to be held in country and civil society pavilions. We have the cooperation of COP 29 leadership as well as COP 30 host. We hope for a UNESCO Resolution to institutionalize this plan after 30 years since COP 1.

Again, Salamat. Mabuhay. Tuloy-tuloy lang po ang ating pakikilaban para makamit ang kapayapaan at likas kayang kaunlaran.
